

ATHLETES' COMMISSION REPORT 2016

I think from the lifters point of view 2016 was a good year for British Powerlifting and we are moving in the right direction.

Social media has started to be more positive I think the British powerlifting Instagram has help.

On the whole there is not much many lifters are unhappy about.

The biggest issue is the need for more local competitions and information about competitions.

We know about this issue and are trying to fix it.
