

British Powerlifting is pleased to announce the appointment of Scott Simon as an independent director to our esteemed board. With an impressive track record of leadership and governance in the sports industry, Scott brings a wealth of experience and a unique perspective to our organization.

Scott Simon's distinguished career includes serving as the CEO of Snowsport Scotland and as the Chairman of Scottish Rugby League, roles in which he demonstrated exceptional leadership, strategic thinking, and a deep commitment to the growth and development of sports in the UK. His invaluable experience in overseeing and advancing these organizations will undoubtedly contribute significantly to the future success of British Powerlifting.

As an independent director, Scott Simon will play a pivotal role in contributing to British Powerlifting's strategic direction, governance, and commitment to fostering a thriving powerlifting community in the United Kingdom.