

Dear British Powerlifting Community,

We are thrilled to introduce you to the dynamic duo who will be taking charge of British Powerlifting's social media presence and engagement. Please join us in welcoming Lukas Amosovas and Olivia Price to the team!

Lukas Amosovas: Lukas brings a wealth of experience in digital marketing from his freelance graphic design business. As well as a passion for strength sports, having been a member of the University of Portsmouth's powerlifting club committee.

With his keen eye for captivating content and strategic approach, he is committed to bringing you the latest updates, inspiring stories, and behind-the-scenes glimpses of the British Powerlifting world.

Olivia Price: Olivia is a powerhouse of creativity and a true advocate for strength and athleticism. She has previously worked with White Lights Media, and we're sure will be bringing all that experience to bear in her new role.

Olivia is eager to showcase the incredible stories of our athletes, and coaches, with the world at large. Expect to be inspired by her authentic passion for powerlifting.
