

British Powerlifting is delighted to announce an important development within our organisation. Effective immediately, Kim Cowell and Craig Wilkins have been appointed as joint Competition Secretaries for British Powerlifting.

Kim and Craig both bring a wealth of experience and dedication to the role. Their extensive involvement in the sport, coupled with their organisational skills and attention to detail, make them an excellent fit for the position.

Kim's vision and strategy have already facilitated North-West's growth to become one of British Powerlifting's busiest divisions. As well as hosting some of the nation's premier competitions, in terms of production value and quality.

Craig's work behind the scenes of British Powerlifting has already been crucial in the organising and diligent upkeep of records and rankings. As well as helping establish current and future qualification totals and procedures going forward.

In their new roles, Craig and Kim will be assisting James and Sabrina in organising and facilitating national competitions and all related matters.

Please join us in congratulating them on their new roles as Competition Secretaries. We look forward to witnessing the positive impact they will undoubtedly bring to our organisation and the powerlifting community as a whole.
